Overview

The National Skills Commission (NSC) has responsibility for providing trusted and independent intelligence on Australia's labour market. A key deliverable for the NSC in this role is the Skills Priority List (SPL).

The SPL provides a detailed view of shortages as well as the future demand for occupations across Australia. This list provides the backbone piece of labour market analysis on occupations that will be a key input to a range of Australian Government policy initiatives, including targeting of skilled migration, apprenticeship incentives and training funding. Noting that each of these measures will also need to consider other inputs relevant to their specific policy needs. Providing a single source of advice on occupations creates a direct line of input for stakeholders and ensures greater consistency and better targeting of resources across the various policy responses implemented by government.

The SPL is reviewed and updated annually and will be published on the NSC website along with any additional reports developed from the analysis of occupations. For further information on the SPL please see the SPL Methodology paper published on the NSC website.

SPL Categories

Taking account of all available information, a current labour market rating is determined for each occupation. Ratings are provided nationally, and for each state and territory. Where there is evidence suggesting variation between metropolitan and regional locations this is reflected in the rating. A full list and detailed explanation of the ratings is available in the appendix.

In addition, each occupation will be given an indicative future demand rating (strong, moderate or soft) to indicate the likely demand for the occupation over the coming five year period using a proportional approach (see page 22 of the methodology).

Using these two components, each occupation assessed will be categorised into one of six categories.

SPL categories			Count of occupations
	Current Labour Market Assessment	Future Demand Indicator
1	Shortage	Strong future demand	57	153
2	Shortage	Moderate future demand	87
3	Shortage	Soft future demand	9
4	No Shortage	Strong future demand	208	646
5	No Shortage	Moderate future demand	394
6	No Shortage	Soft future demand	44

All occupations will be allocated to one of these categories but will not be further ranked.

Where shortages are restricted to regional areas (Regional Shortage), this is shown as (R) against the occupation, and (M) is shown when shortages are restricted to metropolitan areas (Metropolitan Shortage). Both categories fall under the broader 'Shortage' assessment rating.

Appendix: Occupation Ratings

Taking account of all available information, a labour market rating is determined for each occupation.

Ratings are provided nationally, and for each state and territory, where sufficient evidence is available. Where there is evidence suggesting variation between metropolitan and regional locations this is reflected in the rating. The term metropolitan area refers to state and territory capital cities and regional refers to the rest of the state or territory.

An occupation may be assessed as being in shortage even though not all specialisations are in shortage. Similarly, a rating of national shortage does not mean that employers in every geographical location have difficulty recruiting. While an occupation can be considered in shortage, it is still possible that job seekers can face significant competition for positions (due to the level of experience or specialisations required). Similarly, employers can still have difficulty recruiting for occupations that are not in shortage.

The SPL provides the following ratings of the current labour market for occupations where sufficient data are available to make an assessment.

Shortage (S)

Shortages exist when employers are unable to fill or have considerable difficulty filling vacancies for an occupation, or significant specialised skill needs within that occupation, at current levels of remuneration and conditions of employment, and in reasonably accessible locations.

In some instances, shortages may be apparent in particular specialisations within the occupation, but otherwise shortages are not apparent. In these instances, provided there is sufficient evidence, the occupation will still be considered in shortage.

Metropolitan Shortage (M)

Shortages, (as defined above) are restricted to metropolitan areas.

Regional Shortage (R)

Shortages (as defined above) are restricted to regional areas.

No Shortage (NS)

Research has not identified any significant difficulty filling vacancies.

For some occupations, a lack of evidence overall will, by default, result in an occupation being rated as 'No Shortage'.
